Bat World Sanctuary has implemented two products that have been proven over the past two years to significantly reduce tarter build-up, tooth decay and gingivitis in insectivorous bats. Tooth and mouth issues decreased by over 90% since using these two products.

Cranberry Juice Powder

Cranberry juice contains a chemical that blocks cavity-causing bacteria from sticking to teeth which disarms the pathogens that cause tooth decay. One of the main ways that cranberries prevent urinary tract infections and gum disease is by inhibiting the adherence of pathogens on the surface of mucus membrane. Cavity-causing bacteria can't do their "dirty work" without latching onto teeth.

We use the powder rather than making a juice. Simply sprinkle the powder onto mealworms along with the regular vitamin/mineral supplements. Use sparingly at first and then gradually increase the amount so the bats have an easier time accepting it.

Oxyfresh

Oxyfresh is a non-toxic, odorless and tasteless product added to the water for pets. It is undetectable when added to water. The main ingredient is Zinc Acetate, or "Oxygene" which neutralizes volatile sulfuric compounds (VSCs) – the rotten-smelling bacterial by-products responsible for bad breath and gum disease. Fighting this bacteria is also how Oxyfresh fights periodontal disease, cleans the teeth and gums, and reduces plaque/tartar buildup.
